

This is a Test – This is Only a Test

(If this were an actual emergency, how would you fare?)

Imagine the following scenario:

- All transportation has come to a halt (no cars, trucks, trains, or airplanes are moving)
- All utilities have been cut off (no water, electricity, gas, sewer, refuse disposal)
- All communications have been knocked out (no phone, TV, radio, Internet, newspapers, mail)
- All emergency and medical services have ceased (no fire, police, doctors, hospitals)
- All financial assets are frozen (no access to banks, financial institutions, electronic funds)
- All businesses have closed (no food, drugs, clothing, hardware, household goods, contractors)

All of this lasts for 72 hours – 30 days – 6 months – 5 years

How will you react?

How will others react?

How will you provide for your family, maintain security, and ensure your freedom?

Before you browse any of the information provided on TheIndependentPatriot.com, write your own answer. Talk with your spouse, your family, and friends. Work through all of the implications of the scenario on your own, and come up with a response that will best fit your particular situation and provide for your freedom and security. No one knows, better than you, what is in your best interest.

If this were an actual emergency, what would you do?

More importantly, what are you willing to do before the emergency strikes?
